

BEYOND SCHOOL...

School-job alternation

School-job alternation concerns the planning of internship job activities for our school's students in agencies, institutions, offices etc. to be realized during the school year, on the basis of specific conventions with involved partners.

The school offers training courses for students who will take part in the school job alternation project regarding health and safety protection in workplaces.

Our school job alternation project has different goals:

- to join the experience acquired during the school years with competences which are also useful in the work world.
- to encourage students to enhance personal vocations, interests and individual learning styles.

The SJA has to:

- "develop the competences required by the educative, cultural and professional profile of the training courses";
- "develop competences" intended as "the ability to apply specific knowledge in professional and personal contexts" and to integrate "knowledge with social skills";
- it can "offer the student occasions to solve problems, to take on tasks and autonomous initiatives, to learn through experience in order to rielaborate them within a working environment".

Sottob@nco

Sottob@nco is the name of our school's online newspaper. It was created with the goal of affirming our school's unity, compared to the local culture; that is to say developing the relationships with the community, with institutions, associations, enterprises, trade unions and cultural centres, but also to look into historical and artistic aspects of our territory.

Read Sottob@nco!

Students participating in a journalism lesson.

Imun

These are the students who took part to the IMUN project. The initials mean "Italian Model United Nations".

A "Model United Nations" is a simulation of UN committees' debates. In the models, the students act as delegates of the member states, for the purpose of debating about global problems that are discussed in the real UN assemblies.

The Model United Nations gives life to a role-playing game in which students, act as delegates of the country they have been assigned and debate with the other participants.

